The Edge program

In 2021 Fisher Scientific implemented a revolution in serving science by automating our Edge program. The Edge icon is a visual indicator of our customer promise to “Get Same-Day Dispatch on Some of Our Most Popular Products”. What began as an idea back in 2018 has now come to fruition. You can now consider the Edge icon to be a robust satisfaction guarantee. Order any product marked with the Edge icon from any location in Europe before 14:00 in the local time zone and we will dispatch the same day. Orders placed after 14:00 will dispatch the next business day. If you have designated dispatch days, Edge items will continue to be dispatched according to this schedule. Edge items offer the best delivery and website content on our most popular items from key supplier partners right across Europe.

What's new?

An automated check now runs every night, assessing stock and other qualifying parameters, in all Fisher Scientific warehouses across Europe. Products in high demand are also included, ensuring that every item, in every country and from every supplier partner, correctly displays the Edge icon on eu.fishersci.com every morning. If an item is in stock and available to ship, it's included in our Edge program!

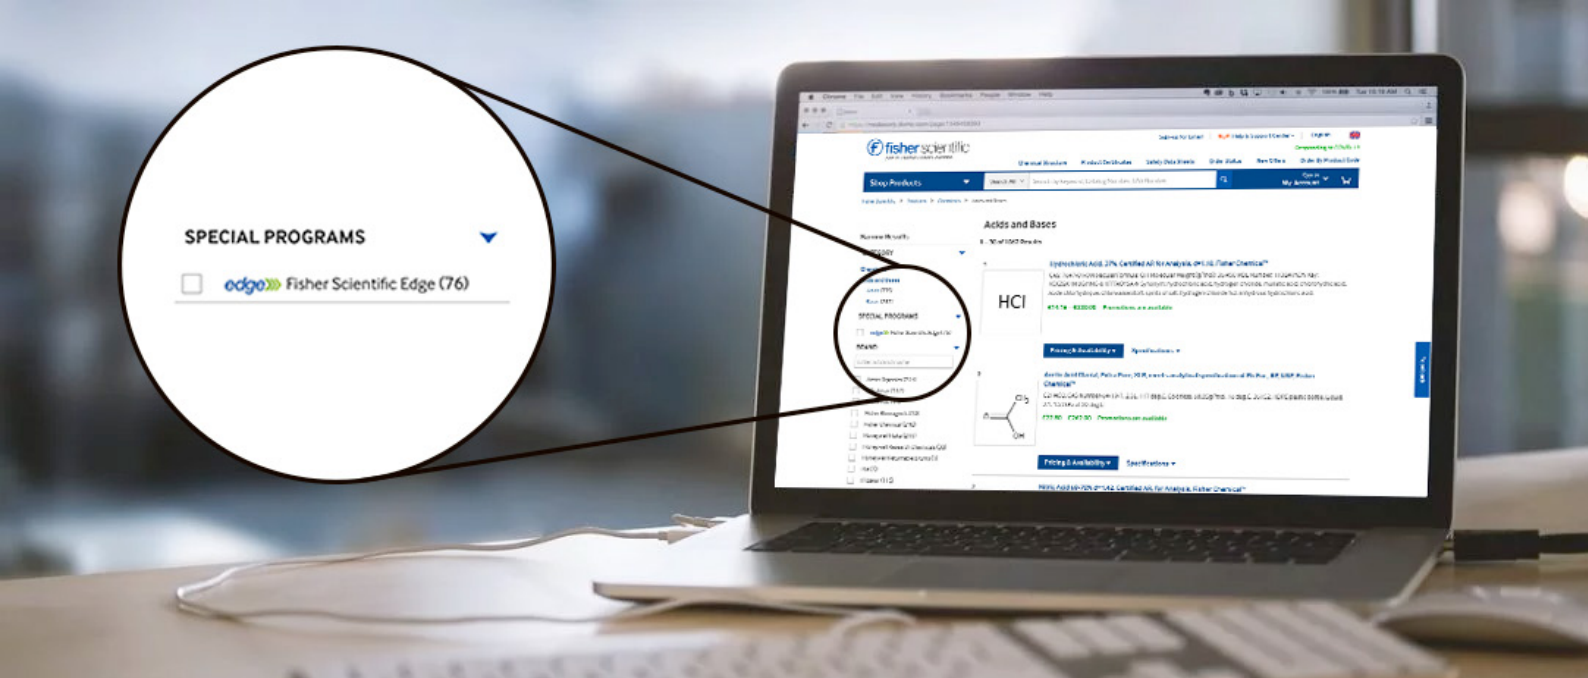

Greater productivity

By prioritising the products that customers like you use the most, the Edge program lets you spend less time procuring and more time making progress. Whether you are just browsing or searching our site for a very specific item, the Edge icon is your key to getting the products you need faster – and delivering results sooner.

What are the numbers?

Since the Edge program was conceived in 2018, we have massively expanded the Edge portfolio. Despite the impact of COVID-19, with our new process in place the number of Edge items on eu.fishersci.com has more than tripled. If you looked across all our European websites, and counted every Edge icon, you would still be counting well past 200,000 items!

How do I find Edge items?

Searching for Edge items across our websites is not only easy, it's highly recommended to shop in this way. Search for any item or family of products on eu.fishersci.com, then click the Edge box under Special Programs in the left refinement menu. This will show you only those items in stock with the Edge promise, ready to ship the same day.

You do amazing things every day. The Edge program is one of the key ways we make procurement of laboratory products easier so you can stay focused on your work.
